Tips from recent Institute of Fundraising training

- Online fundraising events gained popularity in lockdown – virtual pub quizzes and online talks to groups were good fundraisers
- Major events which couldn't be held instead ran dispersed activities – those who couldn't run in a marathon undertook to run the equivalent distance around their village / in their back garden
- Some organisations changed what they do to give direct help to those in need, with benefits later down the line – village organisations ran errands for people self-isolating at no charge and by doing so flagged up the organisation's existence and the good it normally does

Support to Become an Official or Constituted Group

If your group is thinking about becoming an 'official' constituted group so that you can access funding or you are thinking about continuing to support your community after COVID-19, Northamptonshire ACRE can help.
